Nick Cantrell receives top recognition for Responsible Investing

Richmond, VA - Nick Cantrell, Founder of Green Future Wealth Management and a TAG Advisors affiliated advisor, was named Adviser of the Year for Sustainable and Responsible Investment by Finance Monthly magazine.

"Responsible investing is core to my firm" reports Cantrell, "so it is quite an honor to be recognized this way."

Nick says he began learning about Sustainable and Responsible investing in response to client requests. The more he spoke about them, the more clients wanted it. "I don't think most people realize they can express their values in how they invest. Want to avoid Russia? No problem. Concerned about poor environmental performance? We will make it part of your portfolio design. Once they know, it becomes important to them."

When he founded Green Future Wealth Management in 2020, he focused on this specialty intentionally. He believes it is a big part of his success. "Starting from nothing during a pandemic and growing to over $100 million under advisement in less than three years is a reflection of the investing public's interest. Clients seek me out for it."

"Nick represents the kind of advisor we love to work with" says Greg Raines, CEO of TAG Advisors. "He is entrepreneurial. He wants to build something special. And we are hoping to provide him an environment where his unique business can thrive."

TAG Advisors is a national community of over 350 thriving independent financial professionals across the country, with over $10 Billion in assets under advisement. The management and staff of TAG Advisors represents decades of experience in all facets of financial services.
